

Preparing Your Pet for a Stay via Wag!

Thanks for choosing sitting or boarding via the Wag! platform.

Here are a few friendly tips to help your dog have the most paw-some time — whether at your place with a sitter or while boarding at a host's home.

BOARDING AND SITTING BASICS

- Tell your sitter your pet's likes, dislikes, and quirks.
- Do doorbells, thunder, or other noises cause your dog to bark or hide?
- If your dog is on meds or supplements, what's her schedule?
- What time do you walk your dog and what are her walk behaviors?
- Is your dog an escape artist?
- What's the contact info for your vet?
- Who is your emergency contact?

IN-HOME SITTING

Your dog probably knows the rules of your home, but your sitter may not. Be sure to share the following information with your sitter.

Doggie 101

- Where are your dog's food, treats, leash, meds, and poop bags kept?
- Where does your dog usually sleep? Is your dog an early-riser or a late sleeper?
- Any favorite walking paths in your neighborhood? Places to avoid?

House Rules

- Do you have a guest Wi-Fi password?
- Can your sitter watch your TV? And how do the remotes work?
- What can your sitter eat or drink, if anything?
- Would you prefer your sitter avoid certain rooms in your home? Any quirks about your home or building that your sitter should know?

BOARDING AWAY FROM HOME

- Your dog will be in new territory. Help your boarding host learn the routine to keep your dog happy during the stay. Don't skimp on details.
- What's your dog's usual daily routine? Are you sending a favorite toy or treat? When can he have it?
- Does your dog make a chew toy out of couch pillows or shoes?
- How is your dog around new people? Any tips for helping him get acquainted?

Use the Wag! app to share information with your sitter or boarding host and to keep in touch. Your dog will thank you for it!
